

Door Straightener, Adjustable – Fully Recessed – 1900mm

Variant code: ADS04190

Hidden door straighteners are needed to avoid bending on both sliding and swinging doors. Until now these have only been available in a semi-recessed option, which brings the general appearance of your furniture down – something that all premium joinery must avoid! This product allows you to fully conceal the straightener bar by morticing it into the door, covering it with a cap then veneering over it to give a seamless finish. All adjustments are done from either the top or bottom of the door via an allen key.

This product is cuttable, this means that the bar can be trimmed up to 420mm from the original length.

The strength of the door adjuster is always indicated on the side of the data sheet but it depends on the thickness and the material of the door. A trial application is always recommended.
