

Lift-off Butt Hinge – 75 x 38mm – 304 Grade Polished Stainless Steel

Variant code: ACH03075SS

Lift-Off Butt Hinge is a premium removable hinge designed to allow doors, panels and access covers to be lifted off quickly without removing the hinge from the frame. Manufactured from 304 grade polished stainless steel, this 75mm x 38mm hinge offers excellent corrosion resistance, smooth operation and an attractive architectural finish, making it ideal for both commercial and residential applications where regular door removal is required.

Its lift-off design enables fast installation, maintenance and servicing by allowing the door to be removed simply by lifting it from the hinge. Precision engineered from high-quality stainless steel, the hinge provides reliable support and smooth operation while resisting corrosion in internal and light external environments. The polished stainless steel finish delivers a clean, contemporary appearance suitable for modern joinery and architectural projects.

Designed for durability and ease of use, the Sugatsune Lift-Off Butt Hinge is ideal for access panels, equipment enclosures, cabinets and doors requiring regular removal for cleaning or maintenance. Its robust construction ensures dependable long-term performance in demanding professional installations.
